

REDISCOVER YOUR CORE

What would it be like to live and lead from your core? Every human being is born with a set of core values. These values are innate and do not change. Having clearly defined core values will:

- Help you to make choices and decisions that are aligned with your core
- Attract and connect you with ideal team members, clients, and partners that share similar values
- Establish a foundation onto which expectations and trust is built
- Communicate what matters and is most meaningful to you
- Keep you on track to live and demonstrate your core values daily
- Set you apart from others with a unique personal and professional brand

Rediscover your core values in this interactive session.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES:

- Learn what matters to you most so you can stay true to your core
- Create a deeper connection to self and others
- Align personal core values with team and organizational values
- Learn creative strategies to integrate core values at work and at home
